YARRA VALLEY VICTORIA

Little Yarra

In the Little Yarra bushland burial section, only natural burials are permitted, using fully biodegradable materials. Natural burials allow you to contribute to the re-establishment of a natural bushland site and the protection of that site in perpetuity.

Graves are marked with a biodegradable wooden post that records the details of the deceased. Gravesites are restricted to a single burial.

Natural bushland burials and ashes sites are available now. Surrounded by the beautiful mountains of the Yarra Valley, the Upper Yarra Cemetery at Wesburn offers an idyllic setting for bushland burials and scattering of ashes. Let your loved one's final goodbye contribute to the enhancement and protection of their own small part of beautiful bushland in perpetuity in either the Little Yarra Bushland Natural Burial Section or the Donna Buang Bushland Ashes Section.

Native plants such as Common Heath and Tasman Flax Lily can be found in the bushland areas of the cemetery.

Donna Buang

A bushland site with a beautiful selection of local vegetation, Donna Buang is an ideal place for families seeking a natural alternative for the burial or scattering of ashes. With picturesque pathways winding through the area, these premium-sized ashes plots are marked with small bronze plaques in the ground.

Plots are restricted to a single interment. For scattered remains, a small commemorative plaque can be affixed to the entry. Cremated remains can be placed in traditional urns or in natural containers, according to the deceased's wishes.
